How the visioning workshop will run

1

Welcome!

6:30 pm

Learn about what we've heard and our public process this spring.

Share your ideas about our values as a community and what you want Cambridge to be in the future.

Have some food and drinks, and meet your neighbors!

2

What we've heard and draft visions

6:45 pm

A quick overview from the Envision Cambridge team of what we heard from the community on their core values and ideas for the future, and possible visions based on what we've heard.

3

Discussion Groups

7:05 pm

The discussion group will have time for individual thinking about values and visions, then group discussion and prioritization of visions.

Discussion questions:

- How do you define the value assigned to your group?
- What vision do you want for the city?

The group will then work together to form a revised vision.

4

Reconvene and Share Ideas

8:00 pm

Each small group will share their draft vision.

Is it hard to summarize your discussion? Don't worry, there are scribes taking notes throughout the conversation.

5

Adjourn

8:30 pm

What we will do with the information we hear from you today

The Envision Cambridge team will read through all the notes, including comments submitted online and collected by our street teams, and come back in a few months with a refined vision for Cambridge's future.

Please help us make the workshops better
